Re: Efficacy of Actuarial Databases in the Detection of Deception:
A Preliminary Report

Dear Dr. Bhatt:

This letter is in response to your request of November 29, 2011, for review of the above referenced report for publication pursuant to the Federal Bureau of Investigation's (FBI) Prepublication Review Policy (PRP) and Prepublication Review Manual (POL05-001-RMD).

Your submission was reviewed pursuant to the terms of the PRP and we concluded that none of the information presented falls within a restricted area of disclosure. Therefore, there is no objection to the publication of your report, as presented.

You may include your FBI employment as part of your biographical data, providing that the FBI is given no more emphasis than other similar biographical information. In addition, please incorporate a disclaimer advising readers that the opinions expressed in the report are those of the authors and not those of the FBI.

Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact [redacted] at 540-868-1697 or via e-mail at [redacted]. Thank you for your participation in the FBI's prepublication review process.

Hello all,

Piggy-backing on [REDACTED] email... Each of your organizations may have your own unique requirements for what pre-publication approval is, but here are some general guidelines:

b6 -3

- 1) Send a copy of the draft article to your own supervisor. The latest copy is attached.
- 2) Public Affairs Review: I've been talking to my own PA people and to [REDACTED] about how they would like to handle this. [REDACTED] would like all authors to ensure the draft is submitted to their own local agency's Public Affairs pre-publication review process. Contact your public affairs shop and they will be able to guide you. At my agency, this requires filling out a one-page form, and e-mailing the form and document to the appropriate review office. In that review, you should also note that this document is being submitted through the PA review process of the other collaborators at the same time. This will lessen their confusion when the various offices start seeing the same document forwarded multiple times. Your collaborators include...

12/2/2011 b7E -4

- 3) Security Review: [redacted] agency, there is no formal review required for unclassified documents. It's still a good idea to run it by your local security office to verify what your local custom is.
- 4) I'll appoint myself "keeper of review status". When your process has cleared, let me know. No need to send me your forms or official notifications. Just give me a 'thumbs up' when the time comes. b6 1, -3
- 5) Timeline? [redacted] meets in mid-December, so we really need to have a product that is approved by then!

Importance: High

Good Morning All,

Please make sure that you each go through your individual organizational pre-publication processes for your portion of the paper. In other words, your supervisors and organizations must clear on it before it is published. We want you to be able to publish but have to make sure that organizational protocols are followed so that others may also get the opportunity to follow in your footsteps. Thank you very much for your hard work and dedication.

Feel free to call me if you have any questions.

Best regards,

I continue to amaze myself in how optimistic I am regarding how fast I can do things. You'd think I could properly recalibrate my estimates given enough feedback. Never the less, here (finally) is a draft for our [redacted] article. [redacted] meets in December, which means we need to have a final draft worked out and submitted by about mid-November.

Feel free to take jabs at the current draft. After all, all your names will be going on it. I'll suggest comments be made in an open format. I'm happy to incorporate feedback in any format you find appropriate, either through e-mail, phone-calls, or track changes in the document itself.

As a side note, I think the article project is shaping up nicely! There are a lot of big ideas in here, and things to think about. It's been a great project!

Hi!

On 4 January, I received an email from [REDACTED] telling me that this is where I should send my book, The Quick Guide to Everyday Creative Thinking, for review.

b6 -2

I'm attaching two copies of the book, one in Word and the other as a pdf.

This book does not contain any classified information whatsoever; the FBI is mentioned by name only on the first page of Chapter 5.

As this is a very short book (35 pages), I'm hoping that you will have an opportunity to complete the review by the end of the month. Please don't hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or need any further information. My work phone is [REDACTED]

b6 -2

Thanks for your kind assistance.

Re: "The Quick Guide to Everyday Creative Thinking"

Dear Dr. Salkind,

This letter is in response to your request of January 12, 2012, for review of the above referenced manuscript for publication pursuant to the Federal Bureau of Investigation's (FBI) Prepublication Review Policy (PRP) and Prepublication Review Manual (POL05-001-RMD).

Your submission was reviewed pursuant to the terms of the PRP and we concluded that none of the information presented falls within a restricted area of disclosure. Therefore, there is no objection to the publication of your manuscript, as presented.

You may include your FBI employment as part of your biographical data, providing that the FBI is given no more emphasis than other similar biographical information. In addition, please incorporate a disclaimer advising readers that the opinions expressed in the manuscript are yours and not those of the FBI.

Note that this review is conducted per policy outlined in the FBI Prepublication Review Manual and does not constitute approval by the FBI for you to engage in actual publication, sale or other use of the publication. Our findings have only considered the type and implications of release of information contained in your manuscript with regards to Bureau publication and Security policy. Your publication must also comply with the Standards of Ethical Conduct for the Executive Branch, including any applicable limitations on compensation. Compliance with prepublication review policy does not relieve you from the obligation to comply with other applicable FBI and Office of Government Ethics regulations or policies that may apply to your proposed or possible use of this submitted work. Prior to taking any further action with respect to this work consider all applicable regulations, with particular attention to the following:

- MAOP §§1-9, 1-16 and 20-6; 5 C.F.R. §§2635.802 and 803 (Participation in Non-Federal Entities and Outside Employment);
- MAOP §1-18; (Political Activities);
- MAOP §1-27; 5 C.F.R. §2635.805 (Service as an Expert Witness);
- MAOP §1-16.2; 5 C.F.R. §2635.807 (Teaching, Speaking and Writing); and,
- MAOP §20-28.3; (Administration and Requirements of PTAP).

Hello,

I have written a paper that likely needs pre-publication review. I plan to submit a shorter version of the attached paper on rapport research to the FBI's Law Enforcement Bulletin or to the Journal of Investigative Psychology and Offender Profiling. However, I'm not sure whether FBI review is needed or not - I am [REDACTED]

b6 -2

[REDACTED] so it's not always clear whether we need FBI approval, [REDACTED] approval, or both for such things. So I am also sending to [REDACTED]

Please let me know if you have questions or concerns.

Thank you,

Allison Abbe

If you are doing this on your own time, there is no problem accepting the school paying for your transportation. You may have to disclose this on your financial disclosure. If you are doing this on work time, you need to fill out an FD-934 and you should also get your supervisor to ok taking the time off.

Thanks, [redacted] I will contact the prepublication review office. Given that my speech will focus mostly on career decisions preceding my career in the bureau, I don't think the prepub review office will have any objections. I do, however, need immediate clarification on whether I can accept travel reimbursement from my college's career center. If not, I'd like to book my tickets now before fares spike. b6 -2
